Karachi's first ever environment museum located near NIPA opposite Sindbad will be inaugurated on Wednesday. The Vice Chancellor of the University of Karachi, Dr Muhammad Qaiser will open the museum - a joint venture of the Unikarians and Gul Bahao, a non-governmental organisation dealing in the usage of municipal waste for different purposes. An exhibition will also be organised on the occasion to mark the World Environment Day falling on June 5. The exhibition will open at 10am and the formal inaugural ceremony will be held in the evening. Nargis Latif of Gul Bahao said a large number of products made of waste by the KU students would be put on display.
